Volume 34, May – June 2022 No. 3

Word from the editor:

Remember that this is your newsletter. Make sure information you have that is relevant to all gets to me to be included in the newsletter.

Prez Sez:

I hope this newsletter finds everyone well and that you had a great first quarter 2022.

We have had two “in person” retiree meetings thus far this year. The first was on Tuesday, January 11, 2022, and the second on Monday, March 14, 2022. Both were at the Shelby County Arts Center in Columbiana and several of you were in attendance. We will continue to have our meetings in person and hope that many more of you will be able to attend.

Our upcoming meeting will be our annual luncheon that is held at The Club. In the past the meeting was held in May and our speaker was a Southern Company Executive. Due to the pandemic we did not have our luncheon meeting the last two years. This year the available May dates at The Club conflict with The Southern Company Annual Stockholder Meeting and this impacts access to a Southern Company Executive speaker. To keep with the past tradition for our speaker, the Board voted to move the May 2022 meeting to June 2022 to allow us to continue to have a Southern Company Executive speaker. The meeting will be on June 21, 2022, and information on the speaker will be coming out at a later date. I hope this works for everyone’s schedule and that you will be able to attend.

Spring has arrived and I hope everyone had a great Easter. The weather is warming and many of our members will be participating in outdoor activities and will be traveling more. With the warm weather, we need to be more aware of our surroundings and take more caution to be safe. As the temperature increases, we can easily get overheated when working outside. Additionally, from now through the summer more people will be traveling on the highways. When you travel, please be more cautious and aware of your surroundings. We want everyone to be safe and able to attend our retiree meetings, There is nothing quite like socializing and reminiscing with friends and fellow retirees.

It continues to be an honor to serve as your President for 2022 and I will continue to work to do all I can to make it an enjoyable and exciting year. It is also an honor to serve with our dedicated and great 2022 Leadership Team.

To continue to make this a successful year, I again ask all the retirees to provide input and feedback throughout the year. We want to ensure that we have a retiree group where everyone knows they are a vital part. Complete success only occurs when everyone participates and does their part to help achieve excellence.

Looking forward to seeing everyone on June 21, 2022, at the annual Luncheon Meeting at The Club.

Spring Wildfire in the Dunnavant Valley

“Law and Order” re-runs were on my TV the evening of Saturday, March 26. Between Detective Briscoe and District Attorney McCoy, I got up to refresh my sweet tea, but a flicker in the window caught my eye. Our great room looks out on Double Oak Mountain, which is the back border to our neighborhood, Stonegate Farms, in the Dunnavant Valley of Shelby County. Running up the mountain was a jagged line of orange flames. And to the right of the line, individual points of orange light flickered through the trees. No more than a half mile away, the mountain was on fire.

I stood on my back deck, mesmerized, and called a neighbor in the back of the neighborhood. My neighbor explained that firemen from eight districts had been working that afternoon, and would work all night, to get the blaze under control. He said that in most places the flames were burning leaves, dead debris and underbrush and were only knee high. But when the line of fire ran into a dead tree the flames were as high as the trees.

The terrain of the mountain is rough: a forty-five degree slope in places with rock outcroppings and boulders. It’s a difficult climb without wearing breathing apparatus and carrying fire gear and hoses. The firemen used backpack blowers to form a line of bare ground and also tried lighting back fires.

Fortunately, the fire was burning up the mountain and away from the neighborhoods in the valley. It eventually would travel over Double Oak Mountain into the Bear Creek Valley on the other side. News reports said 740 acres burned. It will become apparent as spring unfolds if trees die in large numbers from fire damage.

So how’d it start? There was a wind advisory that Saturday; twenty to thirty mile-per-hour winds were whipping through the valley. Neighbors say a homeowner was burning tree debris when the wind blew the fire into the forest behind his property.

The Alabama Forestry Commission was called in. On Sunday afternoon, a state trooper helicopter began dumping 180-gallon buckets of water. It made 50 loads on Sunday and by midday Monday had made another 50. Even so, for a couple of days the mountain glowed orange at night and smoke rose during the day. Curiously, I never smelled smoke at my house until rain came later in the week.

Moral of the story? Obviously, pay attention to the weather and prepare for the worst with outdoor fires. Property owners should make themselves aware of the Forestry Commission and local fire departments fire and permitting requirements. And second, be kind, respectful, and helpful to first responders. Their dedication and expertise keep us all safe. (see following pages for pictures)

DATES TO REMEMBER IN MAY

Cinco de Mayo is an annual celebration held on May 5, which commemorates the anniversary of Mexico's victory over the French Empire at the Battle of Puebla in 1862. Led by General Ignacio Zaragoza, the victory of a smaller, poorly equipped Mexican force against the larger and better-armed French army was a morale boost for the Mexicans. Zaragoza died months after the battle from an illness, and a larger French force ultimately defeated the Mexican army at the Second Battle of Puebla and occupied Mexico City.

More popular in the United States than in Mexico, Cinco de Mayo has become associated with the celebration of Mexican-American culture. Celebrations began in California, where they have been observed annually since 1863. The day gained nationwide popularity in the 1980s due to advertising campaigns by beer, wine, and tequila companies; today, Cinco de Mayo generates beer sales on par with the Super Bowl. In Mexico, the commemoration of the battle continues to be mostly ceremonial, such as through military parades or battle reenactments. The city of Puebla marks the event with various festivals and reenactments of the battle.

The first official celebration of Mother's Day was at a Methodist church in Grafton, West Virginia in May 1908. It was organized by Anna Jarvis and was financially backed by John Wanamaker, a store owner from Philadelphia who held a Mother's Day event on the very same day. Anna Jarvis continued her efforts and wanted Mother's Day to be added to the national calendar by writing letters to newspapers and politicians. By 1912 the day would be celebrated annually in many states and towns and in 1914 president Wilson signed a measure that established Mother's Day as an official annual celebration on the second Sunday in May! This year Mother's Day falls on May 8.

Fun Facts About Mother's Day

- (1) Around ¼ of all flowers purchased throughout the year are purchased for Mother's Day.
- (2) Mother's Day was intended to be a day to honor mothers individually and not collectively, thus the reason for the apostrophe before the "s", making it possessive instead of plural.
- (3) Mother's Day is the busiest day of the year for the restaurant industry with 62% of Americans dining out.
- (4) Approximately 65% of all greeting card sales occur in the last five days before Mother's Day.
- (5) Women purchase 80% of all Mother's Day cards.
- (6) In what was formerly Yugoslavia, children would tie up their mother on Mother's Day. The only way she could be freed would be to "pay" her children with candy and treats.
- (7) According to the Pew Research Center, more phone calls are made on Mother's Day than any other day of the year.

Victory in Europe (V-E) DAY

Victory in Europe Day is the day celebrating the formal acceptance by the Allies of World War II of Germany's unconditional surrender of its armed forces on Tuesday, May 8, 1945, marking the end of World War II in Europe. Several countries observe public holidays on the day each year, also called Victory Over Fascism Day, Liberation Day or Victory Day. In the UK it is often abbreviated to VE Day, or V-E Day in the US, a term which existed as early as September 1944, in anticipation of victory.

Several former Soviet bloc countries including Russia and Belarus, as well as some former Yugoslav countries like Serbia, celebrate on May 9. The end of all combat actions was specified at 23:01 Central European Time, which was already May 9 in eastern Europe. Israel also marks VE Day on May 9, as a result of the large number of immigrants from the former Soviet bloc, but it is not a public holiday.

Armed Forces Day is a special holiday for people all over the world to come together and thank the men and women of the United States Armed Forces.

First conceived by President Harry S. Truman, the holiday was established in 1949. The creation of a single day celebration for all five branches of the United States military made sense due to its recent unification under the Department of Defense. Today, Armed Forces Day is celebrated on the third Saturday of every May, this year falling on May 21. Be sure to mark your calendar & support our military!

DATES TO REMEMBER IN MAY (Cont'd)

May 30

Memorial Day started as an event to honor Union soldiers who had died during the American Civil War. It was inspired by the way people in the Southern states honored their dead. After World War I, it was extended to include all men and women who died in any war or military action.

Memorial Day was originally known as Decoration Day. The current name for this day did not come into use until after World War II. Decoration Day and then Memorial Day used to be held on May 30, regardless of the day of the week, on which it fell. In 1968, the Uniform Holidays Bill was passed as part of a move to use federal holidays to create three-day weekends. This meant that from 1971, the Memorial Day holiday has been officially observed on the last Monday in May. However, it took a longer period for all American states to recognize the new date.

DATES TO REMEMBER IN JUNE

During World War II (1939-1945), the Battle of Normandy, which lasted from June 1944 to August 1944, resulted in the Allied liberation of Western Europe from Nazi Germany's control. Codenamed Operation Overlord, the battle began on June 6, 1944, also known as D-Day, when some 156,000 American, British, and Canadian forces landed on five beaches along a 50-mile stretch of the heavily fortified coast of France's Normandy region. The invasion was one of the largest amphibious military assaults in history and required extensive planning. Prior to D-Day, the Allies conducted a large-scale deception campaign designed to mislead the Germans about the intended invasion target.

By late August 1944, all of northern France had been liberated, and by the following spring the Allies had defeated the Germans. The Normandy landings have been called the beginning of the end of war in Europe.

JUNE 14

Flag Day, also called National Flag Day, in the United States, is a day honoring the national flag and is observed on June 14. The holiday commemorates the date in 1777 when the United States approved the design for its first national flag.

The idea to set aside a day to honor the national flag came from several sources. Bernard J. Cigrand, a Wisconsin schoolteacher, in 1885 urged his students to observe June 14 as "Flag Birthday." He later wrote an essay published in a Chicago newspaper that urged Americans to proclaim this date as the day to celebrate the flag. In 1888 William T. Kerr of Pennsylvania founded the American Flag Day Association of Western Pennsylvania, an organization to which he dedicated his life. A lesser-known claim is that of George Morris of Connecticut, who is said to have organized the first formal celebration of the day in Hartford in 1861.

In 1916 Pres. Woodrow Wilson proclaimed June 14 as the official date for Flag Day, and in 1949 the U.S. Congress permanently established the date as National Flag Day. Although Flag Day is not an official federal holiday, Pennsylvania celebrates the day as a state holiday. Each year the U.S. president delivers an address that proclaims the week of June 14 as National Flag Week, and all Americans are encouraged to fly U.S. flags.

JUNE 19

Father's Day, celebrated in the United States on the third Sunday of June, got a jump start from the formation of Mother's Day. Credit for beginning Father's Day celebrations is given to Sonora Smart Dodd from Spokane, Washington.

At the turn of the century, Mother's Day observances were growing across the United States. The federal government had yet to recognize the holiday, but many states had adopted the third Sunday in May as a special celebration day honoring mothers. It was during a Mother's Day church service on June 20, 1909, that Sonora Smart Dodd was struck with the idea of creating a special holiday to honor fathers, too. (continued on next page).

Father's Day (Cont'd):

When Sonora was 16, her mother died while giving birth to her sixth child, the last of five sons. Back then, like today, single parenthood was no easy task. By Sonoma's account, though, Mr. Smart did a wonderful job. Because of this love and esteem, Sonoma Smart Dodd believed that her father deserved a special time of honor just like that given to mothers on Mother's Day.

In 1909, Sonoma Smart Dodd approached the Spokane YMCA and the Spokane Ministerial Alliance and suggested that her father's birthday — June 5 — become a celebration day for Father's Day. Because they wanted more time to prepare, the Ministerial Alliance chose June 19 instead.

The first Father's Day was thus observed in the State of Washington on June 19, 1910. The idea of officially celebrating fatherhood spread quickly across the United States, as more and more states adopted the holiday. In 1924, President Calvin Coolidge recognized Father's Day as the third Sunday in June of that year and encouraged states to do the same. Congress officially recognized Father's Day in 1956 with the passage of a joint resolution.

Ten years later, in 1966, President Lyndon Johnson issued a proclamation calling for the third Sunday in June to be recognized as Father's Day. In 1972, President Richard Nixon permanently established the observance of the third Sunday in June as Father's Day in the United States.

Sonora Smart Dodd lived to see her idea come to fruition. She died in 1978 at the ripe old age of 96.
